I. The Directive and the forms

The Directive 2014/41/EU regarding the European Investigation Order in criminal matters<sup>1</sup> (the Directive) deals with the gathering and transfer of evidence, including electronic evidence, within the Union.

The Directive is based on the principle of mutual recognition of judgements and judicial decisions and allows a judicial authority in one Member State (the "issuing authority") to request that specific investigative measures are carried out by an authority in another Member State (the "executing authority") to obtain evidence.

The Directive became applicable on 22 May 2017 and was implemented by a large majority of Member States. It updated the legal framework for the gathering and transfer of evidence between Member States. In particular, it replaced the Convention on Mutual Assistance in Criminal Matters between the Member States of the European Union<sup>2</sup>, which sets out the conditions for mutual legal assistance.

It provides the following three standardised forms to facilitate the execution (set out in the annexes to the Directive):

- European Investigation Order (EIO), in Annex A;
- Confirmation of the Receipt of an EIO, in Annex B; and
- Notification of the interception of telecommunications without technical assistance, in Annex C.

When seeking to have investigative measures carried out in another Member State, the issuing authority must transmit the EIO in the form set out in Annex A to the Directive. The EIO should contain all relevant information enabling the executing State to recognise and execute it. The Directive requires the EIO to be translated into the official language of the executing State or into any other language, indicated by the executing State.

The executing authority, which receives the EIO must, within a week of the reception of an EIO, complete and send the confirmation of the receipt of an EIO, set out in Annex B.

II. Context

The Council in its June 2016 Conclusions on improving criminal justice in cyberspace<sup>1</sup> called on the European Commission to consider and make recommendations on how to adapt, where appropriate, existing standardised forms and procedures to request the securing and obtaining of electronic evidence.

Following the Council's request, the European Commission has set up an ad hoc expert group of representatives of Eurojust, the European Judicial Network and the European Judicial Cybercrime Network, whose objective was to work on the:

- i) electronic user-friendly version of the forms annexed to the Directive; and
- ii) practical guidance for the practitioners on how to fill in the EIO form.

Three meetings of the experts took place - on 1 March 2017, 21 March 2017 and 20 April 2017 - at DG JUST premises. The experts involved drafted the predefined sentences/paragraphs to be included in the electronic version of the forms, where possible and necessary, as well as the practical guidance for filling in the EIO form. On this basis, electronic versions of the forms were developed, which provides additional pre-defined scroll-down menus which can be seen and selected on the computer screen, but are not shown after printing on the paper version, unless marked and completed. These pre-defined scroll-down menus include, for example, a list of investigative measures to collect electronic evidence. This version also includes a functionality of completing one form for all the persons concerned by the investigative measure (Section E of the EIO form). Finally, the electronic version provides an indication of the fields that must be completed (highlighted in red) and reminders to fill-in all the required fields and to sign the form, which appear before printing.

This Memorandum together with the attached guidelines aims at explaining the reasoning behind the creation of the electronic version of the forms and at describing in detail how to fill in the EIO form. It should assist practitioners in applying the forms correctly in their day-to-day work.

The starting point for drafting was that the forms themselves would not be modified, as they are part of the legislative act. The approach chosen by the expert group is based on the inner logic of these forms, which allows the inclusion of a set of predefined options where a free text entry is possible. As explained above, the added options would not appear after printing, if not chosen, thus they do not amend the forms, but only facilitate the process of its completion and translation. The work has been done giving particular attention to the information needed for a successful execution, including by building on the experience gained in many years of practical work on mutual legal assistance.

Completion of new forms, which were adopted on 3 April 2014 together with the Directive, and with which practitioners have not been familiar before, can be complicated and time consuming. In addition, their translation with a number of free-text fields can make it a costly procedure. The electronic format is expected to facilitate completion of these forms and to reduce the text for translation, while the guidelines would ensure consistent completion of the EIO form.

As requested by the Council in its June 2016 Conclusions, the European Commission, together with the Member States, is currently also working on the development of a secure online portal for electronic requests and responses concerning evidence and the corresponding procedures, to increase the efficient use of standardised forms and facilitate cross-border judicial cooperation in relation to proceedings in criminal matters. The portal would also incorporate the new elements introduced by the electronic version of the forms, as well as the guidelines in the form of pop-up messages. The electronic version of the forms is in particular expected to serve the needs of practitioners during the transitional period until the portal is ready to be used by the Member States.

In order to further facilitate the daily work of practitioners, it is intended to have the electronic version of the forms and the guidelines available in 23 EU languages.

They will be made available on the European Judicial Network website for the national authorities to be used on a voluntary basis.

The electronic version of the forms and the guidelines do not have any impact on the substantive content of the Directive, and they have no legislative effect. The use of the electronic version of the forms by the respective national authorities is on a strict voluntary basis. Nevertheless, Member States are encouraged to promote their use as they would facilitate the mechanism for the execution of cross-border investigative measures as laid down by the Directive and would lead to reduce the financial and administrative burden linked to the procedure.

[draft] GUIDELINES ON HOW TO FILL IN THE EUROPEAN INVESTIGATION ORDER (EIO) FORM

This EIO has been issued by a competent authority. The issuing authority certifies that the issuing of this EIO is necessary and proportionate for the purpose of the proceedings specified within it taking into account the rights of the suspected or accused person and that the investigative measures requested could have been ordered under the same conditions in a similar domestic case. I request that the investigative measure or measures specified below be carried out taking due account of the confidentiality of the investigation and that the evidence obtained as a result of the execution of the EIO be transferred.

- When drafting an EIO, it is recommended to use the editable PDF version of the EIO form available on the European Judicial Network (EJN) website<sup>1</sup> or the Compendium tool of the EJN. Using these e-tools presents the advantage of filling in the form as easy as filling in a word form, but with several modern and user-friendly features, such as obtaining immediately the static text of the form in the language(s) accepted by the executing State, or choosing from a predefined list of investigative measures for access to electronic evidence.
- It is advisable to download the editable PDF version of the EIO form in the issuing authority's (your own) language, as well as in other languages, and keep it on your own computer, in case there is no access to the EJN website when needed in urgent cases.
- If you use the word form, available on the EJN website, fill in that form in your own language using a computer (not in handwriting). When the editable PDF version of the EIO form or the EJN Compendium tool is used, the form is always filled in on the computer.
- Also the forms set out in Annexes B and C to the EIO Directive are available on the EJN website in editable PDF versions.
- Use short and simple sentences which are easy to translate.
- If a box is not relevant, write 'not applicable' or indicate clearly, for instance by a specific mark (e. g.: — ) that it is not applicable. You may never delete a box or somehow change the EIO form.
- Consult the EJN website to find notifications made by Member States (in the Judicial Library), as well as the competent executing authority for your EIO (in the Judicial Atlas).
- For further information it might be useful to contact your national EJN Contact Point(s), such as for identifying and establishing direct contacts with the executing authority, or for obtaining legal and practical information concerning execution of different investigative measures. For advice on gathering electronic evidence you may contact your member of the European Judicial Cybercrime Network (EJCN).
- The EIO should be chosen where the execution of an investigative measure seems proportionate, adequate and applicable to the case in hand. The issuing authority should therefore ascertain whether the investigative measure chosen is necessary and proportionate for the gathering of the evidence concerned.

- Sometimes it may be more effective to go through police to police cooperation before the EIO is issued, for example, creating an alert in SIS to find or locate the objects sought as evidence in criminal proceedings (such as vehicles, identity papers, credit cards, or number plates, etc.) or to find out the place of residence or domicile of persons sought to assist with criminal judicial procedures (such as witnesses).
- Note that Denmark and Ireland do not participate in EIO.

SECTION A

- Always obligatory to fill in.
- Indicate issuing State and executing State

Issuing State: .....

Executing State: .....

SECTION B: Urgency

- Art. 12 of the EIO Directive sets the following time limits: 30 days for deciding on recognition or execution of an EIO; 90 days for carrying out the investigative measures following the decision on recognition or execution. Fill in only if a shorter deadline is necessary.
- Indicate and explain reasons for urgency. Such reasons could, for example, include: suspect/accused being detained in custody; upcoming hearing dates; immediate risk to life/health; expiring term for preliminary measures; preservation of electronic evidence due to expire; need for coordination with other requests and/or other national measures; statute of limitations (prescription); etc.
- Whenever possible, provide the date of the deadline which needs to be met, including indication of hour and time zone. Where such a deadline cannot be indicated, provide sufficient information to explain the urgency.
- For assistance in transmitting an urgent EIO contact Eurojust National Member or a EJN Contact Point.

Please indicate if there is any urgency due to

- ☐ Evidence being concealed or destroyed
- ☐ Imminent trial date
- ☐ Any other reason

Please specify below:

Time limits for execution of the EIO are laid down in Directive 2014/41/EU. However, if a shorter or specific time limit is necessary, please provide the date and explain the reason for this:

.....

SECTION C: Investigative measure(s) to be carried out

- An EIO should cover any investigative measure to obtain evidence with the exception of the setting up of a joint investigation team and the gathering of evidence within such a team. It should not apply to cross-border surveillance as referred to in the Convention implementing the Schengen Agreement or to provisional measures with a view to confiscation. Requests for criminal records should normally be made through ECRIS (European Criminal Record Information System).
- Procedural documents should normally be sent directly by post (Article 5 of EU 2000 Convention). In case you need assistance with serving a document, you should first consult with the executing authority whether or not an EIO could be used. You can also get in contact with a EJM Contact Point for advice.
- Where a person is to be transferred to another Member State for the purposes of prosecution, including bringing that person before a court for standing trial, a European Arrest Warrant (EAW) should be issued.
- Describe the assistance/investigative measure required and, if applicable, tick the relevant box/boxes from the list. For certain types of investigative measures section (H) should also be completed.
- As far as possible, anything already described under sections (E), (H) and (I) should not be repeated in section (C), in particular, details of any special procedure / formalities to be followed should be indicated in section (I), and full address or a precise description of any place or person to be searched should be specified under section (E).
- Provide sufficient information to identify the evidence sought, including its location, for instance when requesting to obtain IP data, give details on the type of data required, indicate IP address, data and time of the use, name and address of the service provider.
- An EIO may be issued for carrying out several investigative measures. Number separate measures in all relevant sections of the form.
  - Where a temporary transfer of a person is requested, provide:
    - information on the purpose for the transfer (for instance, witness, confrontation);
    - the dates by which that person must be transferred and returned;
    - information on custody conditions;
    - under section (K): contact details of the authority responsible for making practical arrangements for the transfer.
  - Where a hearing of a person is requested, provide:
    - a list of questions to be asked and the concerned documents;
    - an explanation that other questions arising during the hearing should also be asked;
    - information on the rights and obligations to be notified to the person to be heard (for example, right to be assisted by a lawyer/interpreter). If a signature of a person on the list of rights is necessary to prove in the issuing State that he or she was properly notified, the list of rights or other information necessary may also be attached to the EIO;
    - where applicable, information whether the person to be heard requires protection;

- under section (I)(1): where applicable, details of any special procedure/formalities to be followed (for example, hearing under oath; participation of other concerned persons (for example, a holder of parental responsibility); or hearing to be conducted by a particular authority of the executing State);
- under section (I)(2): where applicable, whether the issuing authority wishes for one of more officials of the issuing State to be present at the hearing.
